

Michael Solomonov

One of the world's leading experts in Endodontics.

Director of a 3-year Endodontics Specialization Program in Israel and creator of the innovative MS (Maximum Safety) file system, Dr. Solomonov combines academic depth with real clinical practicality. He is an examiner for the Israeli State Dental Scientific Council, shaping the next generation of certified endodontic specialists.

With over 70 published scientific articles and countless lectures delivered across Europe, North America, and Asia — including the USA, Japan, Canada, South Korea, Italy, Spain, Germany, and many more — Dr. Solomonov has earned a reputation as a speaker who can translate complex science into clear, step-by-step protocols that work in everyday practice.

As a member of the Israeli, European, and American Associations of Endodontics, and author of the influential book “On Retreatment. An Academic Monologue,” he brings unique insights that few clinicians in the world can offer.

Today, as the founder and director of a cutting-edge multidisciplinary clinic in Israel, Dr. Solomonov continues to develop and apply advanced approaches in endodontics, periodontology, and surgery — sharing with colleagues proven strategies that help turn the toughest cases into predictable successes